2021 PRE-SESSION REPORT

Leading up to session, the First Amendment Foundation has analyzed legislation affecting your right of access to government proceedings and records. We are tracking more than 90 bills with open government and First Amendment implications. Many bills are repeats – from the exemption for records relating to the university and college president searches to the home address exemption for lawmakers – while some bills are specifically related to COVID-19. We have highlighted ten bills of particular interest. Additionally, we have included a brief summary of the other measures we are watching, organized by category.

This report was finalized on Wednesday, February 24th, and does not include any bills filed by legislators after that date. We will continue to update our tracking lists and weekly reports to include newly filed bills and keep you updated each Friday afternoon.

Bills FAF supports are in green, while bills FAF opposes are in red. Otherwise, FAF has not taken a position on the legislation. An asterisk indicates FAF has suggested or will suggest an amendment to narrow the scope of the exemption.

LEGISLATION FAF SUPPORTS

HB 913 Requests for Public Records/SB 400 Public Records Lawrence McClure (R-Plant City), Ray Rodrigues (R-Fort Myers)

Prohibits an agency from filing a declaratory action against a person seeking public records to determine whether the records are exempt or confidential. Rather than responding to request to inspect or copy records, some agencies have sued requestors and asked courts to declare the records exempt. This practice delays requests and forces citizens to hire attorneys to defend public records requests. SB 400/HB 913 prevents this tactic and ensures citizens and journalists are not required to go to court to defend the exercise of their right of access to public records.

- HB 913 is now in the Government Operations Subcommittee. SB 400 unanimously passed the Senate Governmental Oversight and Accountability committee and is now in the Judiciary committee.

HB 989/SB 1246 COVID-19 Data Reporting

Nicholas Duran (D-Miami), Annette Taddeo (D-Miami)

Requires the Department of Health to issue daily reports online, including aggregate COVID testing and vaccination data, at the county level. These reports, which are public records, must include the birth year, sex, race, ethnicity, and county of each individual tested and vaccinated. Prohibits the disclosure of personal identifying information, biometric identification information, or information protected by state or federal law.

- SB 1246 has been referred to Health Policy committee.

HB 1055/SB 1446 Public Records/Trade Secrets Tommy Gregory (R-Bradenton), Jim Boyd (R-Bradenton)

Amends the current statutory definition of trade secrets to exclude: parties to the contract or agreement; amount of money paid; any payment structure or plan, expenditures, incentives, bonuses, fees, or penalties; nature or type of commodities or services purchased; applicable contract unit price or deliverables.

- SB 1446 has been referred to the Senate Governmental Oversight and Accountability committee.

While there are a few bills deleting public records exemptions as part of a repeal of legislation more broadly, two bills intentionally repeal public records exemptions, making government information more readily accessible.

SB 296 Public Records/Drafts Annette Taddeo (D-Miami)

Repeals Fla. Stat. § 11.0431(2)(e), exemption for a draft and request for a draft of reapportionment plan or redistricting plan, and any supporting documents associated with a redistricting and reappointment plan.

- Referred to Ethics & Elections committee.

HB 6069 Confidentiality of Economic Development Agreement Information

Anna Eskamani (D-Orlando)

Repeals Fla. Stat. § 288.075(2)(a), which upon requests by a private entity, exempts and makes confidential information concerning the private corporation's plans, intentions, or interests to locate, relocate, or expand any of its business activities in the state.

- Referred to Tourism, Infrastructure & Energy subcommittee.

LEGISLATION FAF OPPOSES

HB 997/SB 220 Public Records and Public Meetings Sam Garrison (R-Orange Park), Jeff Brandes (R-St. Petersburg)

Exempts and makes confidential any personal identifying information of any applicant for president of a state university or Florida College System Institution. Exempts any portion of a meeting for the purpose of identifying or vetting applicants. Information is no longer confidential if an applicant is included within a "final group" of candidates 21 days before date of interview with each applicant. However, the bill contains no minimum number for a final group of applicants, which could be a final group of "one".

Once again, proponents of this exemption claim it is necessary to broaden the pool of applicants to lead our state's colleges and universities. Yet, there is no evidence to suggest secrecy will increase the number of applicants. Nor is there any evidence that sitting presidents will face retaliation for applying for another position. In fact, research shows that secrecy leads to the appointment of insider candidates, who would not face retaliation. Further, a review of 242 hiring decisions found that the vast majority of people rejected from consideration for a university presidency went on to secure another presidency or comparably high-ranking position. There are anecdotes from Florida and across the country showing the harm and poor hiring decision that result from secret searches without public vetting.

- SB 220 passed the Education and Governmental Oversight and Accountability committees and is now in the Rules committee.

HB 1207/SB 1488 Public Records/Members of the Legislature and the Cabinet Kelli Stargel (R-Lakeland), Mike Beltran (R-Valrico)

Exempts the home addresses, telephone numbers, dates of birth of current members of the Senate, House of Representatives, and cabinet officers. Also exempts the names, places of employment of legislators and Cabinet officers' spouses and children. The public has no way to know whether legislators live in the districts they are elected to represent or whether a conflict of interest exists between officials and their spouses or adult children.

HB 1/SB 484 Combatting Public Disorder Danny Burgess (R-Zephyrhills), Juan Alphonso Fernandez-Barquin (R-Miami)

Increases penalties for offenses that occur during protests that become violent. Creates a new definition of riot: a person who participates in a public disturbance involving an assembly of three or more people engaging in violent conduct. Overbroad definition of riot may deter protestors and journalists from exercising their First Amendment rights, fearing criminal sanctions for mere presence in a peaceful protest that becomes a public disturbance or involves some violence.

- HB 1 approved by the Criminal Justice & Public Safety Subcommittee and now in the Justice Appropriations Subcommittee. SB 484 referred to the Criminal Justice Committee.

HB 35/SB 402 Public Notice and Voting Rights Restoration Database/Legal Notices Randy Fine (R-Palm Bay), Ray Rodrigues (R-Ft. Myers)

The Senate version moves legal notices from newspapers and their websites to a website created by the Florida Association of Court Clerks and Comptrollers. The House version allows government entities to post notices on their own websites rather than a newspaper and floridapublicnotices.com – an existing site that already receives traffic. By moving notice from newspapers and their websites and floridapublicnotices.com to brand new sites or a government website, less people will see public notices and be able to participate in the government decision-making process.

- SB 402 has been temporarily postponed by the Judiciary committee twice. HB 35 was approved by the Civil Justice & Property Rights Subcommittee and is now in the Judiciary committee, its last committee stop before going to the entire House.

HB 781/SB 844 Public Records Will Robinson (R-Bradenton), Ed Hooper (R-Palm Harbor)

In part, permits clerk of courts to enter access agreements to permit certain individuals (attorneys, title insurers) to access otherwise exempt records. Only applies to certain property records. The First Amendment Foundation supports increasing access to records and allowing parties to enter agreements with clerks rather than going to court for a determination that the records should be released.

However, this bill prioritizes certain professions; the general public or press does not have the same ability to access records. Title insurers and financial institutions can still seek the records by asking the person whose home address or name is exempt from public view. The solution to the thousands of exemptions and dozens of home address exemptions is not to provide access to specific individuals but to reevaluate exemptions and public records laws.

- HB 781 is in the Government Operations subcommittee. SB 844 is in the Governmental Accountability and Oversight committee but not considered at the last meeting.

Home Addresses

Every year, lawmakers seek to expand the current exemptions for home addresses of certain professions. Absent specific evidence that employees are at risk of harm because of their profession, the Foundation opposes these exemptions. Home addresses exemptions create a false sense of security – if someone wants to harm a lawmaker for instance, they will not file a public records request, but are more likely to follow the individual to or from their workplace or public space. As evidenced by SB 844 Public Records, these exemptions create more work for records custodians with minimal benefit. Moreover, these exemptions remain even when an employee leaves the position authorizing the exemption. The First Amendment Foundation is calling on lawmakers to limit such exemptions to only current (and not former) employees.

SB 68/HB 691 Public Records/Staff and Volunteers of Domestic Violence Centers

Voter Information

HB 155/SB 1492 Public Records/Voters and Voter Information Cyndi Stevenson (R-St. Augustine), Doug Broxson (R-Pensacola)

Makes confidential and exempts information obtained for voter registration: the address of legal residence, date of birth, telephone number, and email address of a voter registration applicant or voter. Notably, permits disclosure to the applicant or voter; a canvassing board or election official in their official capacity; and political party or official thereof, a candidate who has filed qualification papers, an elected official, or a registered political committee, for political purpose only. As a result, because the exemption would not apply to campaigns, PACs, or political parties, this bill would do nothing to reduce political solicitation calls, texts or emails.
