Re: HB 619 – Pub. Rec./Application for a De Novo Banking Charter

I write on behalf of the First Amendment Foundation to express our opposition to House Bill 619, exempting and making confidential certain information in an application for a de novo banking charter.

We do not object to the exemption for personal financial information or driver’s license or identification card numbers. However, an exemption for the personal identifying information of all shareholders and subscribers, as well as the names of proposed officers or directors will make it impossible for the public to know the leaders and owners of new state banks. The public has no way of knowing whether the officers or directors have been involved in money laundering or prior bank failures or have violated other banking regulations.

The Office of Financial Regulation (OFR) licenses and regulates to ensure that private funds invested in state-chartered banks are protected from loss due to failure or insolvency. This legislation reduces transparency at OFR and makes the banking industry less accountable to the public.

House Bill 619 provides no evidence of retribution to support the statement of necessity. Therefore, the exemption of identities of shareholders, officers, and directors is entirely unwarranted by the facts. This legislation unjustifiably limits the statutory and constitutional right of access to public records.
Accordingly, the First Amendment Foundation opposes House Bill 619. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact us.

With best regards,

FIRST AMENDMENT FOUNDATION
