Re: SB 1492 – Public Records/Voter or Voter Registration
Application

The First Amendment Foundations writes to express our concerns with Senate Bill 1492, which exempts and makes confidential certain voter information from public view.

While the public would be unable to access this information under SB 1492, the bill creates an exception for a political party, candidate, or political committee to access this information. By releasing personal information to parties and political committees, the information could still be misused to harass and mislead voters. The exception afforded to candidates and political committees undermines the public necessity statement provided in the bill.

The Florida Constitution grants a right of access to records to every person. This bill limits the public's right of access to information while granting access to campaigns and political committees who stand to benefit from voter information. Accordingly, the First Amendment Foundation opposes this legislation.

With best regards,

FIRST AMENDMENT FOUNDATION
